Sparkling eyes: Places to ring in the New Year - both near and far

Plenty of options - both near and far - to celebrate New Year's Eve

By Stephanie Citron, Special to The Baltimore Sun

On New Year's Eve, energy is high and the air is filled with electric verve in anticipation of what's to come. Is there any better time to celebrate?

Whether you prefer to party gala-style with friends or celebrate at a chic and romantic bed and breakfast with that special someone, the options are abundant. And if driving on New Year's Eve is a downer for you, there are plenty of getaway packages where the elevator will be your only transportation. We've found the festivities, large and small, at lovely locales all within a few hours' drive.

You can celebrate like a rock star with tickets to a big-name concert then hang out with the band over cocktails. Afterward, mosey upstairs to your ensuite bed. Prefer more elegance? Deck out in black-tie duds for a cocktail soiree before a five-course-gourmet dinner with supper club entertainment. That leads into an uber-glam gala ball and a midnight balloon drop, showering your champagne toast. Then retire to your feather bed accommodations.

If you and the gang prefer a ramped up New Year's Eve, check out one of the city-sponsored events in Washington or Philadelphia offering all-inclusive parties with a multitude of venues under one roof, including live bands, comedy shows, karaoke open bar, buffets, and midnight fireworks, with complimentary trolley service back to your hotel.

Whatever you choose, make your reservations early, because many of these galas sell out.

Downtown Baltimore

Intercontinental Harbor Court Hotel

Celebrate: "Ultimate 2011 New Year's Eve" includes a private one-hour cocktail party for six with live music and gourmet dinner prepared by the executive chef. Afterward, the group moves on to the exclusive Zebra Room to enjoy two bottles of Veuve Clicquot, and access to the Explorers Lounge for dancing, a chocolate buffet and indoor front row view of the midnight fireworks over the Harbor.

Stay: This package includes overnight accommodations for two in the Presidential suite, with VIP rose petal turndown, keepsake champagne glasses, round trip limousine transport to and from the hotel, and the above celebration package for $11,000.

If you don't have that much dough, a celebration for two at Brighton's restaurant plus dancing and views of the fireworks and a courtyard room starts at $399 per couple.
